ORANGE AND BLUE VICTORIOUS OVER GEORGIA ELEVEN

offense and the higher two on the defense. The tackles, guards and centers were clearly outplayed by their lighter opponents more times than space can tell.

Conklin, as a defensive end; Logan on the offensive end, and Paddock at quarter back, were the other conspicuous players from the University of Georgia's standpoint.

Start With a Rush.

Virginia started with a rush, and had the ball on Georgia's fifteen-yard line in five minutes. But the Georgia team held three times, and on the fourth try, Gooch shot a forward pass to Gillette, who grabbed the ball as he sped over the goal line. Carter missed an easy goal.

Georgia scored in the second quarter. McWhorter carried the ball twice, where Powell and Paddock carried it once, and they worked the ball from their end of the field to Virginia's twenty-five-yard line. Here McWhorter hurried a beautiful pass to Logan, and as White tackled him, he fell over the goal line for a touch down. White broke up the attempt to kick goal.

The ball was in the center of the field the remainder of the second quarter. McWhorter's fierce tackling saved impending touchdowns in the third quarter, and he always brought the ball out of danger when it went over.

Georgia had a beautiful chance in the fourth quarter, when two forward passes were worked for nice gains, but the third one was fumbled by a

Georgia man with a clean field ahead of him, and only about fifteen yards to go.

Gooch and Landes worked the ball back to the center of the field. Georgia threw Ray and Speer for five-yard losses on two plays. Gooch gained twelve yards on the next, and then uncoiled the winning play as mentioned above.

Virginia was not without her supporters, fully 200 sitting in a section reserved for them at the park.

Ten thousand fans saw the game. Line-up and summary:

CLUBHOUSE PLAN GAINS IN FAVOR

every walk of life. The majority of blanks received to date are from men from twenty-two to forty-eight years of age. One middle-aged man took the pains to state that, from his viewpoint, it was the most common sense proposition ever presented to the city of Richmond.

The baseball men are interested because they have long suffered the lack of even the crudest kind of arrangements for the accommodation of the men and boys who seek the park for play and practice. In this clubhouse, which they want to see erected, they see the ball players of the future made more physically fit for the game, and with the chance of playing mid-week twilight games, they see a faster bunch of players than the leagues have been able to turn out heretofore.

To Realize Dream.
Men interested in track and field athletics are to have their dream of the past realized. The joy of training on a cinder track so as to be on a footing with the best in the country, is a thing they have longed for these many years.

Then, too, to have a wide cinder 100 yards straightaway so that the weather will never interfere with training, seems almost too good to be true. College men who have made fine records while away from Richmond, have come back to take up their professions, but have been obliged to drop athletics because there was no place to train.

One man who sent in a blank stated that when the clubhouse was built all wanted was a sixteen-pound hammer and a place of room to throw it. He is a big chap, would be the city of Richmond, and would take considerable pride in being the record-holder for the hammer-throw in the State of Virginia.

One chap stated to Secretary Tousey that his doctor had ordered him to take exercise in the open, and he was doing the best he could under the circumstances, but that a clubhouse at Byrd Park would be a great benefit to him, and he felt sure that there were many young men who would be glad to be in the open, providing there was some one to tell them how and what to do.

Athletic Training House.
The title "Municipal Clubhouse" does not mean a place where men and athletes train for a living. There are to be no pool-tables, bowling alleys and such like amusements. Lockers filled with baseball uniforms, track suits, tennis rackets, football toys, running shoes and the like will be a part of training which will mean a higher type of manhood for Richmond.

The splash of water in the shower-baths will be a most welcome sound after a hard game. A bar will rub down and then into street clothes is the one thing essential to tempt men and boys out into the open after their work is over. Richmond can well afford a few hundred dollars to bring this needed equipment within the reach of the thousands of men and boys who make up its population. It sounds good; it looks good, and the way the blanks are being signed and sent in, the proposition seems to be just what the men and boys of Richmond have been looking for these many years.
